TO FIGHT IN SENATE.

General Manager Hedley Will Resume Stand to Tell of Income From Patents.

Senator George F. Thompson, Chairman of the legislative committee that has exposed the unfitness of the Public Service Commission, declared today that he will oppose the nomination of Travis H. Whitney as a Public Service Commissioner.

"If he is nominated," said the Senator, "I shall oppose the nomination in committee, on the floor of the Senate and in every way I can. Travis H. Whitney is a delightful fellow, but he is an essential part of a bad system. The investigations of this committee have shown that the Public Service Commission as it has been organized for years is unfit. It has not been in any way the representative of the people.

"We can't improve the Public Service Commission unless we change its character, and we can't change its character unless we change its personnel. I believe there should be one Democrat on the commission. Last night I wired Senator Henry M. Sage in Albany withdrawing all opposition to the confirmation of Henry Wilson Hodge as a Public Service Commissioner. I am frank to say that I made a careful search as to his qual-

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better
after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the poisonous waste, sores, fermentations and poisons, before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material which, if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a natural cleanser of the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexions, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, or who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation, should begin this phosphate hot water drinking, and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not, while the bowels pores do.

MISS LOEB NOT SEEKING P. S. C. APPOINTMENT

Miss Loeb makes the following statement with reference to Senator Thompson's recommendation that she be made a Public Service Commissioner:

"I appreciate Senator Thompson's kind words about my ability relative to the work I have done in connection with the Public Service investigation and his suggesting my name to the Governor as Public Service Commissioner.

"I want to say, however, that I have never sought that office or any public office. I am content to remain on the Child Welfare Board without pay. If I had been tendered the office I would have been pleased that another official recognition had been made of the fact that woman can fill such an important post as this.

"It is the fearless attitude of The Evening World that has made this work of clearing out the Public Service Commission possible and I am glad to have lent my energy to it."

"As a public body the Public Service Commission has been a failure. It needs a drastic remedy. If I were a Public Service Commissioner the first thing I'd do would be to cut off the head of every department—Chief Engineer Alfred Craven, Chief Counsel George Coleman and Secretary Travis H. Whitney.

"I never made but one suggestion as to the nomination of a Public Service Commissioner," added Senator Thompson, "and that was when I advised Gov. Whitman to nominate Sophie Irene Loeb. She would make a much better Public Service Commissioner than any man who ever held that position."

"Can a woman serve?" was asked. "Yes," replied the Senator; "there is nothing in the law to prevent, and I know Miss Loeb would be the most efficient and faithful sort of Public Service Commissioner."

General Manager Frank Hedley of the subway and elevated lines will continue his testimony before the Public Service Commission this afternoon. He promises to bring in as soon as possible the list of his income outside of the $50,000 salary that goes with his job as general manager of the transit system. He also promises to bring in as soon as possible the list of his income outside of the $50,000 salary that goes with his job as general manager of the transit system.

They are sailors of the Porto Rico Line and were arrested at the Fort Hamilton Ferry by Detective Manning when they evaded, as to three heavy grips in their possession, at the Poplar Street Station fourteen revolvers and sixty boxes of cartridges were found in the grips. The police say the sailors buy cheap revolvers here and reap good profit on their sale in Porto Rico.

ZEPPELIN IS HIT BY DUTCH SHELLS; FIFTY SHOTS FIRED

Raiding Fleet, Returning From Britain, Passes in Vicinity of Amsterdam.

GROPED IN DENSE FOG.

British Press Denies the Berlin
Report That the Raiders
Reached Liverpool.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A Zeppelin airship was sighted to-day off the coast of Ameland, an island of the Netherlands in the North Sea, says a despatch from Amsterdam to the Reuters Telegram Company. The dirigible balloon was flying low and probably had lost her bearings owing to the fog.

The coast guard bombarded the Zeppelin, more than fifty shots being fired, and it is believed that some hit the airship, which finally disappeared to the northward.

Early Tuesday morning the Zeppelin air fleet returning from its raid on the English provinces was heard in the vicinity of Amsterdam. Officers of ships arriving at the Dutch port say that five Zeppelins traveling westward were sighted shortly before the raid took place on Monday.

The Zeppelins, in their great raid on England Monday night, groped their way blindly with no exact knowledge of their whereabouts and threw bombs aimlessly, the London newspapers asserted to-day.

The Daily Chronicle says there is no truth in the Berlin report that the big English industrial centers of Liverpool, Manchester, Sheffield, Birmingham, Nottingham and Great Yarmouth were attacked from the sky.

"The recklessness of the Zeppelin operations is sufficiently illustrated by the German wireless, which shows any idea where they really were," says the Chronicle. "None of the localities mentioned by the Germans were mentioned in the English official report of the raid, for the simple reason that they were not raided. The German account is untrue in every particular."

"Each new raid discloses some weakness in our preparations," says the Chronicle. "We suggest, in the light of Monday night's experiences, that the Government might well revise methods of dealing with railway traffic in case of a Zeppelin alarm."

A number of trains, heavily laden with passengers, were suddenly held up wherever they happened to be. At some stations crowds were allowed to gather, waiting for trains. A single bomb dropped in one of these build-ups would have caused a shocking massacre.

A Paris despatch to-day giving details of the Zeppelin bombardment Saturday night, reported that thirty persons, imprisoned by falling debris during the bombardment, were released until yesterday, after gangs of workmen had dug at the wreckage for sixty hours. Food and water was supplied to them through apertures in the pile of debris.

SALONICA, Feb. 2. (Via Paris).—Two Greek soldiers, five refugees and seven workmen were killed and fifty civilians were injured by the influenza bomb dropped yesterday.

HEILIN, Feb. 2. (Via London).—The Lokalanzeiger publishes a long editorial on the Zeppelin raid over England, saying that every one will be convinced that the attack was fully justified in considering the places visited and their military significance. It asserts that Liverpool, which the German Admiralty announced yesterday was bombarded, is to be considered primarily as a port of entry for American munitions, "whose destruction is our sacred duty."

DOESN'T KNOW WHY WIFE SUES MRS. F. H. BURNETT

Nephew of Creator of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" Kept in Dark About Libel Action.

"I don't know anything about it. I know of no reason for such a suit. Mrs. Burnett is the best friend my wife has," said Archibald Fahnestock, society editor of the Globe, at his office to-day, when asked why his wife is to sue Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, creator of "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

At the office of Niles & Johnson, No. 11 Wall Street, except to confirm the report that Mrs. Fahnestock would sue Mrs. Burnett and charge libel, explanations were not ready.

Though Mrs. Fahnestock lives in Washington, the summons and complaint will be filed in New York County, probably late to-day. Mrs. Burnett is the aunt of Mrs. Fahnestock on his mother's side. Recently he has been living with his aunt. "My work keeps me here during the winter months," Mrs. Fahnestock prefers Washington during the season. I expect to join her in the summer," Mrs. Fahnestock explains. The Fahnestocks were married ten years ago. Mrs. Fahnestock belongs to an old Washington family. Her maiden name was Anne Pratt. She was known as the "photographer of society." Mrs. Burnett lives at Plandome, L. I.

Former New York Rector and Woman With Whom He Eloped

ILLEGAL LOVE PLAY, 'GOD & COMPANY,' A MYSTERY DRAMA

Is Former New York Rector and Principal in Elopement Its Author?

"God and Company," a play by "H. Austin Adams," which has had two performances under the auspices of the Stage Society this week, and which is likely to be given a regular production by a commercial manager later on, is believed to be the work of Henry Austin Adams, central figure in one of the most sensational dramas of illicit love that New York has ever known.

The author of the play, which is a daring indictment of the good faith and the sexual morality of the clergy, is said to be the brilliant but erratic man once a minister of the Episcopal Church and later a convert to Catholicism, who started New York in 1902 by abandoning his wife and four children and eloping with sixteen-year-old Gertrude Bertha Desch, described by him as his "mystic soul and Catholic saint" after the girl had been an inmate of his household for some months preceding their disappearance.

Years of wandering up and down the earth, of social ostracism, of precarious fortune, followed the disappearance of the brilliant man of forty-seven and the beautiful young girl of sixteen. After leaving New York they were heard of in New Zealand, then in British Columbia and finally in Seattle where, in 1906, Adams' legal wife, despairing of his return to her, obtained a divorce.

As soon as it was legally possible Adams married Miss Desch. Previously he had gone through a ceremony with her which his first wife denounced as bigamous and the former clergyman's mystic soul became the mother of a little boy described by his father as "the child of my perfect love."

THE RISE AND FALL OF THE 'TALENTED CLERGYMAN'

Henry Austin Adams, who was born in Cuba, came to New York in 1885 as assistant to the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix at Trinity. Later he was called to Buffalo, but returned here a few years later as rector of the fashionable Church of the Redeemer. He was known then as "Father Adams," and a wealthy woman parishioner settled an annuity of $4,000 upon him. It was in 1903 that "Father Adams," as he was known then, became a Catholic and the Converts' League sent him through the country on a lecture tour.

After five years, while lecturing in Baltimore, Adams met Gertrude Desch, his mystic soul, and began writing poems and essays on their love. The girl visited in the Adams home and both assumed the mother of his four children that while their love for each other was strong it was noble and sinless.

A year later they disappeared together and Mrs. Adams, who was very bitter in her denunciation of the couple, announced that she would never get a divorce. Adams had left her without support. After a few years of ill fortune his very genuine talent for writing enabled him to earn large sums by contributing short stories to Smart Set, Ansie's, McClure's and other well known magazines. So when he brought suit for divorce in 1906 in Seattle, claiming that his wife had deserted him, Mrs. Flora Adams appeared suddenly and filed a cross suit, which she won with substantial alimony.

Since taking up his permanent residence in the West, the former rector of the Church of the Redeemer has proclaimed himself an Agnostic and a Socialist. He was stopped several years ago in an effort to deliver a sensational lecture which he called "The Truth About Marriage." A play by Adams, called "The Bird Cage," was produced in Providence, R. I., in 1913, and after the first performance was very considerably censored at the request of the police, in this drama, which told the story of a young woman who deserted her husband on the evening of their wedding day to go to another man, "an intellectual," many arguments were presented for easier divorce and greater freedom for women in relation to marriage.

AUTHOR GAVE NAME OF NEW YORK PREACHER.

The new play, "God and Company," produced under the direction of W. Graham Brown, who acted the principal role, was placed in Mr. Brown's hands by the author at La Jolla, Cal., last year, when the actor was appearing with Miss Marie, and so named the play. But the ruling spirit is too strong for the minister. He brags as usual, and his wife's former sweetheart dislikes and distrusts him. After preaching his farewell sermon, the girl is sent home by her father, where he has a smoking room and where he is supposed to prepare his sermons and ponder problems of theology and morals, but where he has actually clandestine meetings with a very young girl of his congregation.

He and the girl are discovered and denounced by his wife's old friend, who is sent home by her father, who threatens the pastor with exposure and ruin. There is nothing left for the Rev. Wesley Boal but death. So, snatching off an electric light as a symbol of the ease and the finality of his departure, the clergyman seizes a pistol and climbs slowly up the winding stairs back to the tower.

OBJECTS TO ART LESSONS AGED HUSBAND GAVE

Bernard, 78, Sued for Separation
by Wife 61—Were Wed
24 Years.

Mrs. Jeanette Bernard, sixty-one years old, of Winfield, L. I., declared in an action for separation brought before Justice Kapper in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, to-day that her husband, Louis, seventy-eight years old, has long been infatuated with Miss Jennie M. Thompson of Flushing, a school teacher, fifty-one years old. Mrs. Bernard asks $15 a week alimony and counsel fees.

Bernard is an employee of the American Lead Pencil Company and a stockholder in the concern. Mrs. Bernard says that both she and her husband had been interested in art. All went well until the appearance of Miss Thompson twelve years ago. Miss Thompson, too, was interested in art. She came to the Bernard home for lessons until 1912, when, Mrs. Bernard charges, her husband went to Flushing to give Miss Thompson her lessons.

The wife states that in Flushing the relations of her husband and the school ma'am became common scandal, that they were seen in the street arm in arm and that they kissed in public.

A year later she says her husband left their home on Jan. 8. They were married in 1892.

Killed in Railroad Yard.

Frank Hendrickson, thirty years old, an employee of the Long Island Railroad, was crushed to death to-day between two cars in the yards at Vanderbilt and Atlantic Avenues, Brooklyn. Hendrickson was uncoupling cars when an engine, not knowing he was between them, suddenly backed the train and Hendrickson was pinned by the trucks. His home was in Valley Stream, L. I.

NEW NOTE TO END LUSITANIA DISPUTE SENT FROM BERLIN

Instructions to Von Bernstorff
Give "Hope for Positive Understanding."

BERLIN, Feb. 2. (By wireless to Sayville).—Instructions have been sent by the German Government to Ambassador von Bernstorff at Washington of such a nature as to give "reasonable hope for a positive understanding" concerning the Lusitania affair. It was announced here to-day.

The announcement, which is of a semi-official nature, is said by the Overseas News Agency to have been made "in connection with alarming English reports about the nature of German-American relations." The text of the statement is given by the News Agency as follows:

"It is true that on Saturday, Jan. 29, a telegraphic report from the German Ambassador at Washington arrived at Berlin, showing that up to that time it had been impossible to adjust the Lusitania case in a manner satisfactory to both sides by friendly verbal exchanges of views. On Tuesday instructions were transmitted by telegraph to the German Ambassador which give reasonable hope for a positive understanding."

President Wilson will receive a full report from Col. E. M. House, his confidential agent, on the Lusitania controversy as a result of his conference with German officials. It was learned to-day that Col. House was applied by the officials of a new and recent change of sentiment in Germany regarding relations with America. Germany, he was told, is today a solid unit insofar as her foreign relations are concerned.

Officials and other German leaders are most earnest in their desire for American friendship. They are patiently and anxiously watching developments, trusting that an agreement mutually satisfactory is possible.

International Swindler Gets Sentence of Not Less Than Year

Julius H. Ford, known internationally in criminal and police circles as "Doc" Waterbury, general all-around crook and confidence man, was to-day sentenced to Sing Sing prison for not less than one year and three months and not more than two years and six months by Judge Mulqueen in the Court of General Sessions. Ford pleaded guilty to an indictment charging the theft of $200 which he obtained from Dr. M. Allen Starr, who paid the money to become a life member of the Gridiron Club of Washington.

Accused by Girl Killed Himself.

When Isaac Doerfler, fifty-eight years old, a baker of No. 163 Withers Street, Williamsburg, failed to appear in the Bedford Avenue Court to-day for examination on a charge of having attempted to assault a fifteen-year-old girl in his apartment last Friday night, Detective Frothingham sent Detective Ferris to his home. The detective found the man had committed suicide by drinking poison.

MUSIC TEACHER WHO CLAIMS SHE IS LAWYER'S WIDOW

MISS FERRER MARRIED LORD IN APPROVED WAY, MRS. GOURAUD ASSERTS

Testifies for Claimant to $750,000 Estate That She Knows Ceremony.

On the strength of the assertion of Mrs. Almee Crocker Gillig Gouraud that she knows a marriage ceremony when she sees one, Miss Eugenie Ferrer, a music teacher, may establish her legal right to be known as Mrs. Theodore A. Lord and to inherit the $750,000 estate left by the Yonkers attorney.

The case came before Surrogate Sawyer at White Plains. Miss Ferrer said she was married to Mr. Lord in the City Hall at San Francisco on Nov. 24, 1888, and she produced Mrs. Gouraud, who, she said, was present at the ceremony, to prove it. Attorney Charles W. Sinnott questioned Mrs. Gouraud.

"You are familiar with a marriage ceremony?" he asked.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Gouraud. "Describe this one."

"Oh, I couldn't say it all!" exclaimed Mrs. Gouraud, a little petulantly. "I know he said 'Do you take this woman to be your lawful wife?' and he said he did, and then she was asked the same question in regard to him. Then we all signed our names to a paper."

Mrs. Gouraud was dressed in black satin and around her neck was a rope of pearls. Richard J. Ferrer, brother of the claimant, said he knew Lord when he lived in San Francisco and that it was known three years before the marriage that Lord was engaged to his sister.

In 1888 Lord told him he had married Eugenia and showed him a marriage certificate, but asked him to keep the wedding a secret because of a family difference of religion.

ALBANY, Feb. 2.—Harold L. Severy, the young man arrested in Schenectady in connection with the shooting of four persons, one fatally, in this city Friday night, and who last night confessed that he had wounded at least one of them, pleaded not guilty to-day to a charge of assault in the first degree.

He objected to the words "with intent to kill" in the information and asked time to communicate with his father, who is said to be in Los Angeles, Cal. He was held without bail for a hearing next Friday.

In the meantime a commission will determine his mental condition.
